

Lecturer/Senior Lecturer/Reader in Property
University of Aberdeen Business School
University of Aberdeen
Aberdeen, Scotland UK

Based in the Department of Property you will build further on the strengths of the Department in research and teaching. In the 2008 RAE, 60% of the research in Property was judged to be 3* or 4*.

You should have a leading research record or have the potential for international standing, a background in property, economics or finance, and must be willing to apply these skills to property research. The Department has particular research strengths in property investment and finance, valuation and property market analysis. You will be encouraged to develop your research with current staff, and with visiting academics with established reputations as international researchers. You will also be expected to develop strong, independent and externally funded research programmes, and will be encouraged to be innovative and to seek new research and teaching opportunities. You will be expected to contribute to the teaching of the property programme within the Business School.

The salary will be paid in the range of £36,532 - £43,622 per annum (Lecturer) or £44,930 - £52,086 per annum (Senior Lecturer/Reader)

Informal enquiries may be made to Professor Norman Hutchison at n.e.hutch@abdn.ac.uk (direct line +44 (0) 1224 273486) or Dr Deb Roberts at deb.roberts@abdn.ac.uk (direct line +44 (0) 1224 273690).

Online application forms and further particulars are available from www.abdn.ac.uk/jobs. Alternatively telephone +44 (0) 1224 272727 (24-hour answering service) quoting reference number BUS007A for an application pack.

The closing date for the receipt of applications is 27th February 2009

Promoting Diversity and Equal Opportunities throughout the University

Posted 2/9